What I've Discovered that I Love

I had been to Slovenia many years ago, spending time in the Julian Alps and on Lake Bled, skipping the capital then. With plans to be back in Vienna this February, just a quick train ride into Slovenia, I tacked on a few more days to see the capital I've been hearing so much about. The city of Ljubljana is like stepping back in time in the best way, untouched, small, walkable. Incredible locally sourced menus. People are friendly, and helpful, they're genuinely glad you're there. The crowds haven't fully discovered it either, yet. If you've been to Europe before, and perhaps are looking for where to go next where authenticity can still be said with confidence, this is it. | Stay: Zlata Ladjica; Eat: dinner at Julija, lunch casually from Pekarna Ana

Unique Experiences & Travel Inspiration

No secret that Chile is a favorite destination of mine. It's just cool. Otherworldly landscape from the Atacama Desert in the north to Patagonia in the south, unmatched anywhere else on earth. Just off the coast toward the south is a little island called Chiloé. Most have never heard of it. It requires additional logistics, another flight and a ferry, but when one has the time and curiosity it's among the most culturally intact places I've ever been, and one of the few spots I can remember not seeing another tourist. I have clients exploring Chiloé now, before continuing the adventure south to Patagonia. | Best Time of Year: November-April

A Notable upcoming Client Trip

You only turn 80 once! Clients I've worked with for over a decade came to me to orchestrate his 80th Birthday trip. Working with my trusted local partners in the region, together we created 21 days of completely customized exploration of Egypt & Morocco next month. The best of the very best from Giza to Old Cairo, and a small luxury vessel down the Nile River, to privately guided museum & temple visits led by doctorates, and a hot air balloon over Luxor... connecting by flight into Casablanca Morocco where one of my trusted English-speaking guides will open doors of culture & access for them through Rabat, Fez, the Atlas Mountains, and Marrakech. |

Experience not to miss: Historia on the Nile
